

Request for decision:

D31-2016

Subject matter: Operating Model – presentation for Police and Crime Panel

Executive summary:

Key headlines from the draft Operating Model presentation for the Police and Crime Panel on 7 November. In principle, there is lots of evidence that the model is working well, but there is more work to be done around neighbourhood policing to provide a better service.

The PCC stressed the importance of including neighbourhood policing in the Operating Model in order to gain the confidence of the public and remain fully connected throughout.

Recommendations (with reasons for that recommendation)

A more realistic level of resourcing for neighbourhood policing should be identified in order to get the right balance. It was agreed that a narrative to explain what the Constabulary does to keep neighbourhoods safe would be beneficial.
